Susan Baer, Director, Aviation Department
The Port Authority of NY & NJ

Susan Baer is responsible for the safe and efficient operation of the world's busiest airport system – John F. Kennedy International, Newark Liberty International, LaGuardia, Teterboro and Stewart International airports. She oversees a staff of more than 2,000 employees, a $1.3 billion operating budget and a $594 million capital budget. More than 80 air carriers operate at the agency's airports, which served more than 107 million passengers and handled 2.4 million tons of cargo in 2008. The Port Authority's airport system supports more than half a million jobs paying more than $20 billion in annual wages and generating about $60 billion in annual economic activity.

Ms. Baer was the first person in agency history to manage all of the major Port Authority airports. She was appointed General Manager of LaGuardia Airport in 1994, General Manager of New Jersey Airports (Newark and Teterboro) in June 1998, and General Manager of Kennedy Airport in 2007. She was named Deputy Director/Chief Operating Officer of the Aviation Department in 2008 and became Director of Aviation on September 25, 2009.

Ms. Baer is a 34-year veteran of the Port Authority. She began her career with the bistate agency as a management analyst. In 1985 she was promoted from manager of the Public Services Division of the Tunnels, Bridges and Terminals Department to manager of the Lincoln Tunnel. The following year she was named manager of the midtown Manhattan Port Authority Bus Terminal, the world's busiest. Ms. Baer was the first woman promoted into those positions. In 1988, she moved from buses to planes, joining the Aviation Department as General Manager of Aviation Customer and Marketing Services. From there she took on the challenge of managing the New York metropolitan airports in succession for the next 14 years before moving to the Director's Office.

Ms. Baer is active in the communities surrounding the airports, serving on the Board of Vaughn College of Aeronautics and the Newark Museum. In addition, she has been honored by the New Jersey AFL-CIO; the Newark International Airport Airline Managers Association; Barnard College; the YWCA of New York; the Boy Scouts, and the Aviation Institute, among others.

Ms. Baer holds a bachelor's degree in urban studies and anthropology from Barnard College and a master's degree in business administration from New York University. She resides in Upper Montclair, New Jersey with her husband and three children.
